second place among the nations. It was the same with the German Army.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The abdication of the German Emperor and the renunciation of the throne by the Crown Prince before noon had been demanded by the German Socialist Party. The Emperor is reported at first to have refused to abdicate on the ground that he could not "at the moment of peace" take the responsibility of handing over the country to the Entente and delivering up the country to anarchy.

TERMS FOR THE ARMISTICE ARE PLACED BY PRINCE MAX BEFORE REICHSTAG LEADERS

No Word Received From the German Envoys Since They Sent a Courier to Headquarters After Seeing Foch.

PARIS, Nov. 9 (Associated Press).—It is regarded probable in well-informed circles that Prince Maximilian, the German Imperial Chancellor, will to-day communicate the terms of the armistice to a committee of Reichstag party leaders and will himself convey their vote to authorize the plenipotentiaries to sign the armistice.

It is probable that the German reply will be brought back by the same courier that took them to German Headquarters at Spa yesterday.

The German Government may use the wireless, in which case the plenipotentiaries at Marshal Foch's Headquarters will have only to ratify the decision thus conveyed to them.

Vice-Admiral William S. Sims, Commander of the American naval forces in the war zone, attended the first interview between Marshal Foch and the German armistice mission yesterday.

It was learned this morning that Admiral Sims is not taking part in the negotiations, but has gone to London.

FOCH RECEIVED DELEGATES IN RAILROAD CAR

Germany's armistice delegates were received by Marshal Foch yesterday morning at nine o'clock in a railroad car, in which the Commander-in-Chief of the Allied forces has his headquarters, according to the Petit Journal. When the Germans' credentials had been opened and verified, Mathias Erzberger, leader of the enemy delegation, speaking in French, announced that the German Government had been advised by President Wilson that Marshal Foch was qualified to communicate to them the Allies' conditions and had appointed them plenipotentiaries to take cognizance of the terms and eventually sign an armistice.

Marshal Foch then read the terms in a loud voice, dwelling upon each word. The Germans were prepared by semi-official communications for the stipulations, as a whole, but hearing set forth in detail the concrete demands seemed to bring to them for the first time full realization of the extent of the German defeat.

They made a few observations, merely pointing out material difficulties standing in the way of carrying out some quite secondary clauses. Then Erzberger asked for a suspension of hostilities in the interest of humanity. This request Marshal Foch flatly refused.

The delegates, having obtained permission to send a courier to Spa and communicate with that place by wireless, withdrew. Marshal Foch immediately wrote an account of the proceedings and sent it by an aide to Premier Clemenceau, who received them at noon.

The German delegates are lodged in a country mansion at Rethondes six miles east of Compiègne, and thirty miles from Marshal Foch's headquarters.

[Rethondes is a small town on the north bank of the River Aisne, six miles east of Compiègne. It is between the Forest of Laigle and the Forest of Compiègne. Within a radius of thirty miles of Rethondes are the railroad towns of Clermont, Montdidier, La Fère, Laon and several others not so well known. St. Quentin is between thirty and thirty-five miles to the north.]

With the Commander-in-Chief at the time of the interview were Major Gen. Maxime Weygand, his assistant; Vice Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss, First Lord of the British Admiralty, and Vice Admiral William S. Sims.

GERMANY EXPECTED TO SURRENDER

French opinion, which is remarkably restrained and conservative, is unanimous in the view that Germany will capitulate between now and Monday. There is no tendency to exaggerate happenings in Germany, but it is felt that the Germans have had enough to make it imperative for the Government to make peace at the earliest possible moment.

M. Copie, writing in the Figaro, fairly sums up the views of all editorial writers when he says:

"The details of revolutionary movements in Germany are lacking, but we learn enough from hour to hour to feel already that they are neither superficial nor fictitious. Do they contain deep-set revolution? Are they but riots due to the reaction of the defeat? What authority does the republic proclaimed at Munich possess? These are questions which concern Germany alone."

While Germany is reflecting on the Allies terms, Marshal Foch continues his blows without intermission. The German Army may break at any moment. There were signs of a new retreat from the Scheldt yesterday, and the French are along the Meuse over a front of fifteen miles. The alternative for Germany now is armistice or invasion—no evasion.

GERMAN REVOLUTION SWEEPS ON; BAVARIA UNDER RULE OF SOVIET

federation of German states after the Franco-Prussian War, seems to be disintegrating. It may soon cease to exist as such.

Emphasizing the upheaval which is taking place in Germany, despatches from Munich by way of Basel tell of the proclamation of a republic in Bavaria at the conclusion of a great popular meeting there Thursday.

A Munich despatch gives additional details of the meeting at which the republic was proclaimed. Several thousand persons were present, having come by invitation of the Socialist Party. After fiery speeches by numerous orators the crowd adopted a resolution demanding the abdication of the Kaiser, renunciation of right to succession by the Crown Prince, the introduction of a democratic regime in Germany, acceptance of an armistice, no future wars except for national defense, social reforms and an eight-hour day for workmen.

The speakers were received with great enthusiasm. They all affirmed that the Socialist Party urged neither a strike nor revolution, but desired only complete reform.

In a mile long procession were many soldiers of all arms headed by a band. The procession marched to the Royal Palace and the Ministries, where the Government hurriedly posted appeals for the populace to remain calm.

BAVARIAN DYNASTY IS DEPOSED BY THE DIET

Afterward, according to a Munich despatch, during the sitting of the Diet at the Palace, a decree was passed deposing the Wittelsbach dynasty.

Ludwig III., King of Bavaria, is head of the House of Wittelsbach. He became Regent a succession to his father, Prince Luitpold, in 1912. Ludwig was proclaimed King in 1913, in succession to his cousin, King Otto, known as the "Mad King of Bavaria." Otto was declared incapable of ruling owing to his mental infirmity.

Ludwig III. was born in 1845, and married Archduchess Maria Theresa of Austria-Este. Of this union were born nine children, three sons and six daughters. Prince Rupprecht, the Crown Prince, has been one of the leading Teutonic Allied Generals on the Western front during the war.

Little of value was left within the houses. The Germans carried away everything of value they could carry. What they could not move they destroyed. The shops of the town bear evidence of the long occupation by the Germans. Over a majority of the shops there are German signs.

"What is the use of staying out there to be killed on the last day," was the comment of scores of prisoners brought in by the Americans. The captured Germans were a more discouraged lot than usual.

Most of them declared that since their government is quitting—and they appear to be convinced that it is—it was absurd for them to neglect the opportunity to surrender.

ANARCHY SPREADS IN AUSTRIA; NOBLES BEING BUFFETED

Pillagers Running Wild and Are Joined by Soldiers, Says Traveller.

ZURICH, Nov. 9.—Deploable conditions in Austria are described by a traveller of prominence who has arrived here from Vienna.

Along the road the train was invaded by crowds. Places in the coaches occupied by Count Leopold von Berchthold, former Foreign Minister of Austria-Hungary, and the Prince of Schoenberg were taken and the noblemen were ejected.

Hands of disorderly soldiers installed themselves on the roofs of the cars.

Stores in villages along the way have been pillaged and foodstuffs have been carried off. The traveller confirms reports that anarchy reigns in the interior of Austria-Hungary.

Farms are being pillaged and shops sacked by throngs of deserting soldiers. The bourgeoisie, fearing the Bolshevik movement, desire Allied intervention, he says.

$170,000,000 COST OF INFLUENZA TO WAR RISK BUREAU

18,000 Soldiers and Sailors Died in This Country Alone.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—It has cost the Government only $1,500,000 to write $84,000,000 of insurance on the lives of soldiers and sailors within the last year, said Thomas B. Love, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in an address here to-day before the Association of Life Agency Officers.

By its accomplishments in the short period of twelve months the Treasury's Bureau of War Risk Insurance "has wrought the insurance miracle of doubling the volume of ordinary life insurance outstanding in the world," Mr. Love added.

Secretary Love said that in the last two months more than 18,000 soldiers and sailors have died of influenza in this country, alone, and insurance which the Government will pay to their beneficiaries will amount eventually to $170,000,000.

Premium income collected from insured soldiers is estimated at $14,000,000, and up to Nov. 1 disbursements on account of deaths amounted to $1,100,000. These payments are distributed over a period of years, and the aggregate or commuted value of claims is $122,000,000.

New insurance has been written at the rate of $2,500,000 a month, or $90,000,000 a year, and it is estimated that 95 per cent. of the men in the army and navy are insured.

BOY IS ARRESTED IN $35,600 THEFT; 'LIVED HIGH' 2 DAYS

Police Declare They Found $23,000 Stolen Bonds on Person of Missing Messenger.

Samuel Shapiro, nineteen years old, of No. 1885 First Avenue, was arrested at 2 A. M. to-day on a charge of stealing $35,600 in Liberty bonds from Finch & Tarbell, stock brokers, No. 120 Broadway, for whom he was a messenger until Wednesday.

The police say he had in his pockets $23,000 in Liberty bonds, and $2,000 in cash that he told them to whom he had given $10,000 of the bonds, and said he had "been living high" on the remaining $300.

The youth was later arraigned before Magistrate Mancuso in the Tombs Court and was held in $1,000 bail for hearing on Nov. 13.

When Shapiro got his job with the brokers three weeks ago, according to the police, he called himself Harry Shaw. His duty was to deliver bonds in the forenoon and collect checks for them in the afternoon.

morning he was sent to take $600 worth of bonds to Maybon & Co., 41 Wall Street. He got back just as a messenger left $25,000 in bonds on the cashier's window of Finch & Tarbell. The police say Shapiro took these bonds as well as $10,000 more nearby.

He remained in the office until sent out to make his afternoon check collection. He did not return, and the firm learned the $600 worth of bonds he had been sent to deliver to Maybon & Co. had not been received. Then the $25,000 worth of bonds were missed. Notices were sent broadcast warning against buying the stolen bonds, and the police had since been seeking the missing messenger. They were mysterious about Shapiro's arrest, merely saying they found him in front of the broker's office where he had worked at 5 o'clock this morning.

Bertha Shapiro, a sister of Sam, said this morning.

"Sam telephoned me last Tuesday that he was going away. I asked him why and he said he had stolen some bonds. I told him to remember that he had a family to think of and that he must return every cent at once, even if he had to give himself up to the police. I told him it would be easier later to do it. I didn't hear from him Friday and thought he had taken the bonds back. I think he was on his way to return them when he was arrested."

Bertha added that her brother was ambitious to help his family, but had never indicated that he would steal to do it. She said he had no friends that she knew of with whom he would spend money. He is a quiet fellow, she said, and has never been in any such trouble before. She says he had been paying her tuition at an art school.

Their father is a travelling salesman and their mother works at Wanamaker's. Both are out of town to-day.

HOLDUP BY MASQUERADERS AT CLUB TURNS INTO JOKE

Five men, masked and dressed as they had been earlier in the evening at a fancy dress ball, stepped out of an automobile in front of the 11th Avenue Democratic Club, in Brooklyn, shortly after midnight last night, made their way cautiously and familiarly to the card room, and with drawn revolvers relieved six members of about $1,200 in cash and several articles of jewelry. After emptying and binding their victims, the masqueraders departed under the very noses of the police at the Bedford Avenue Station a few doors away.

About the time the police got wind of the "robbery," it became known that the loot had been left intact in a convenient spot in another room of the club house.

State Senator Daniel J. Carroll, a constituent member, said this morning the whole affair was a practical joke played by some of the club members as a wind-up of an evening of festivity.
